Family Record Guide

To those I leave behind

Because you care enough to plan ahead for those you'll leave behind

Using this booklet to record your funeral wishes and to organize life's many details assures that, when the time comes, those closest to you will have the necessary information to handle your affairs and celebrate your life.

Your preparation now means greater peace of mind for loved ones later. As you complete this record, know that you are giving your family a most thoughtful gift. This simple, caring gesture will help ensure a meaningful funeral experience and comfort them in their time of loss. And they won't have to worry if they made the right choices.

Please make your loved ones aware that this document exists and keep it in a safe place, where they may easily access it. You may also want to provide a photocopy to a loved one who lives outside your home.

Personal record

It's out of pure and simple love that I leave you with this gift to guide and protect you at this most difficult time.

My wish is to spare you any unnecessary expense and the burden of having to make decisions under pressures of time and emotion. That's why I have expressed my wishes and provided the information you'll need to answer the many questions you'll be asked. I have also shared my personal thoughts and memories.

May you find as much comfort and meaning within these pages as I found in preparing them.
